

Mercari Price Analysis - Prediction Analysis - First linear model; Diagnostics and Cook's Distance

- A first linear model is applied to the problem, with the price attribute used as a response variable. To analyze the appropriateness of the model, the idea is to consider diagnostic plots

- Further describing the linear model, especially illustrating data points with influence on the fit of the model, the Cook's Distance can be considered

Cook's Distance of Fitted Values

